of the late John Brooke Peacock of Philadelphia, and Harry Lambert Hill were married at 7:30 o'clock last evening at Si. Stephen's Catholic Church. The bride was unattended, and entered the church with her cousin, Mr. James Cranson of Delaware. The four ushers, Mr. Edward Powers, Mr. C. Colliere and Dr. Frank Baker of Washington and Dr. John Ball of Delaware, led the way to the altar, where the groom was waiting with the officiating clergyman, Rev. P. J. O'Connel.

Owing to a recent death in the groom's family there was no reception. Many beautiful presents were received by the bride, one of the most valued being a full ditiner set of blue and white old English ware, which has been in her father's family for 150 years. This was sent by her aunt, Mrs. Dudley Ballinger of New Jersey. Mr. Hill's gift was a massive silver tray, also an heirloom. After an out-of-town trip of some weeks Mr. and Mrs. Hill will be at home to their friends at their new residence on Columbia road.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, for many years members of St. Patrick's parish, knelt within the ligthed sanctuary during the mass, which was celebrated by the paster of the church, Father Gloyd, assisted by Dr. Stafford and Father Dolan. The exquisite marble altar was lighted with wax candles in groups of fifty, all burning in golden candelabra, and further adorated in large golden chrysanthemums. A feature of the mass was the singing of the "Ta-Deum" by the children of St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, who have always found warm friends in Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

A family breakfast at the Mitchell residence, 1928 K street, followed the mass, and a reception given in the evening was attended by several hundred guests. The house was decorated throughout with yellow chrysanthemums, carnations and roses, many of them sent by friends from far and near, and nearly all in bunches of fifty. Other presents received were several pieces of gold plate, some $5 and some $10 gold pieces put up in dainty boxes or bags, candelabra, gilt clocks and other pieces of bric-a-brac, and a number of linen covers and center pieces, embroidered in gold-colored silk.

Worcester, Mass., and other points in New England.

MILLER. In loving remembrance of my dear son, FRANCIS J. MILLER, who departed this life eight years age today. October 19, 1891.
His lips I have kissed, they are faded and cold; His hands I have clasped are covered with mold. Pits tomb I will wreath—I have flowers for him. But who will ever gather a flower for me?

The right dew that falls, though in silence it weeps, Shall brighten with verdure the grave where he sleeps.
And the tears that I shed, though in secret they roll,
Shall long keep his memory green in my soul.
Gone, but not forgotten.
BY HIS MOTHER, ANNIE M. MILLER.

tia, the home of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Dony, the groom', parents, by Rev. Chas. O. Isaac, the pastor of the Anacostia Methodist Episcopal Church. Only relatives and a few intimate friends of the young couple witnessed the ceremony, which was performed in one of the handsomely decorated front parlors of the residence. Palms and cut flowers formed the decorations of the rooms, and it was beneath plants of the former kind that the service took place by Tutt's Pills, an absolute cure for sick headache, dyspepsia, malaria, constipation and all kindred troubles. rooms, and it was beneath plants of the former kind that the service took place. The couple entered the parlor to the strains of a wedding march, played by Mrs. Anderson of Southeast Washington, sister of the bride. The bride was becomingly attired in a gown made of pearl gray poplin, and carried a large boundet of bride roses. After the ceremony a wedding research. "The fly-wheel of life."
